Are your hospital construction plans up to code? Every three years, California adopts a new set of building codes. The 2019 California Building Standards Code (CBSC), California Code of Regulations, Title 24, was published in July 2019 and became effective January 1, 2020. That means all building permit applications submitted on or after January 1 must be compliant with the 2019 code. Changes to the code are significant and broad in scope. Hospitals planning or considering new construction projects should not miss this informational four-session webinar series.

Due to the amount of information to be presented and the time limitations of a webinar, this presentation will be broken into four distinct sessions. Each session will have a specific focus so you may attend all four sessions, or just the topics relevant to you.

Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OSHPD) Technical Lead Disciplines will outline important changes to the CBSC and explain what hospitals, design professionals, and their construction teams should consider to achieve compliance.
